I have another question about the POM partitions I sent earlier.
The behaviour is the partition that handles dynamic behaviour of the elements within a space.

Can we leverage XML schema for developing the behaviour partition?

For behaviour partitions, we need to capture the activities with time.
In simple terms, it could be a time series. We could learn simple patterns from this data and store that information at each element.

--
Muthucumaru Maheswaran I Associate Professor, SOCS, McGill University
http://www.cs.mcgill.ca/~maheswar I Ph: (514) 398-1465